

GAMMA CHANGERS LIFE

LUXE RECOGNIZES THE INNOVATORS AND NAMES
TO KNOW IN DESIGN WHOSE PORTFOLIOS ARE AS UNIQUE AS THE CITIES THEY CALL HOME.

WRITTEN BY ELIZABETH HUEBSCH

ELIZABETH KRUEGER ▶

Chicago | elizabethkruegerdesign.com

WHY WE LOVE HER: Elizabeth Krueger is a decorating daredevil who has been known to wallpaper a ceiling with dramatic patterns. It's those innovative moves with prints, color and texture that define her spaces and create environments that reflect both her aesthetic and the client.

ON THE HORIZON: Krueger is a longtime fan of Michael Abraham Architecture and recently signed on to design a dream project with the firm: residential, new construction in the historic suburb of Riverside, a tony area in Chicago.

IN HER WORDS: "My best work happens when I'm not forcing myself to be creative. That's when I feel the ideas come out of the corners of my mind."

MEGAN PAPWORTH AND DAWN TERRY

Scottsdale, AZ, and Temecula, CA | einteriors.design

WHY WE LOVE THEM: Daughter Megan Papworth calls Southern California home, sourcing unique items from local makers, while mother Dawn Terry holds down their Arizona roots.

ON THE HORIZON: The mother-daughter team are working on a complete renovation of a 14,000-square-foot, Tuscan-style home in Scottsdale.

IN THEIR WORDS: "Thanks to social media and networking, we've been able to grow the business. We are constantly inspired by the people around us."

◀ JASON DALLAS

Seattle | jasondallasdesign.com

WHY WE LOVE HIM: A visual storyteller, Jason Dallas utilizes the Pacific Northwest's natural surroundings to inform his environmentally aware interiors. Don't mistake him for just another flower child of the west, though. Although he was raised by creatives—his father once converted a school bus into a mobile home!—he actually pursued a technical degree in architecture.

ON THE HORIZON: This year, Dallas is working on a brick-and-mortar retail component to his brand and is excited to showcase a 19th-century Victorian home and a houseboat renovation, as well as several multifamily commercial projects.

IN HIS WORDS: "Each design tells a story, from the colors on the wall to the collectibles on the shelf. Mixing an individual's existing possessions with new 'on-trend' colors and elements can completely update and modernize any space."

◀ KAREN AND GUY VIDAL

Los Angeles | vidaldesigncollaborative.com

WHY WE LOVE THEM: Karen and Guy Vidal's spaces are as sunny as the Southern California landscape they reflect. The design couple's imaginative use of colorful tile and pattern mixing has become their signature.

ON THE HORIZON: Previously known as Design Vidal, the firm is rebranding as the Vidal Design Collaborative this year to reflect the creative team at the growing studio.

IN THEIR WORDS: "Our fearlessness has allowed us to push ourselves beyond our boundaries and be unfettered by rules."
